DECADES DAY

By Brinlynn Wallace

Homecoming started off with a bang on Tuesday for Decades Day! It was super funny and cute. Lots of people wore clothes from the 90s. The funniest outfits were from the 60s—people wore pink, polka-dot dresses that looked awesome. One of our classmates, Claire, wore a bright neon 80s wind suit. It was puffy and had her favorite colors on it. She said she wore it because it looked cute and made her happy. Another classmate, Drew Sapp, dressed up as a rapper from the 2000s. He had on a hat and cool glasses. Drew said he wanted to be a rapper because he likes that kind of music, and the rapper he dressed up as reminded him of his mom singing in the car. It was so fun seeing everyone step out of their comfort zones and dress up for Homecoming Week. You're never too young to express yourself!

BIKER vs. Surfer

Goodpine Middle School had a fun Bikers vs. Surfers Dress-Up Day to celebrate our homecoming week! Students showed off their school spirit by dressing up in biker gear or surfer outfits. The hallways were full of leather jackets, bandanas, sunglasses, Hawaiian shirts, and beach hats. Some students even carried surfboards or wore pretend tattoos!

SCRABBLE DAY

We had a great Homecoming Week at Goodpine Middle School! We had so much fun dressing up. One of the best days was "Scrabble Day." If you don't know what Scrabble Day is, it's when you dress up as something that starts with the same first letter as your name. For example, my friend Raelynn dressed up as a rapper. She wore a silver chain and turned her hat sideways. Rae-lynn said, "I wanted to be a rapper because it starts with an 'R,' and I already had all the stuff to do it." There were so many creative costumes that I could never name them all! That's a wrap on a Scrabble Day I'll never forget!

BLACK & GOLD

GPMS Rocks

On Friday, we celebrated Black and Gold Day for Homecoming, but there wasn't a lot of black and gold in attendance. There were only about 80 kids in all. The fun thing was that the fifth grade didn't have to do packets.

At brunch, all the grades came and ate together. After brunch, the 5th grade had a big PE. We dismissed at 11 am. That is what we did on Half Day.
